Canadian TCSL Association
invites submission of abstracts for:

2024 Canadian TCSL Conference & AGM

May 4th, 2024

Venue: Zoom

The Canadian TCSL Association is inviting abstract submissions to the 2024 Canadian Teaching Chinese as a Second Language International Conference, to be held on Zoom on May 4th, 2024. We warmly welcome colleagues from across Canada and around the world to our annual celebration of TCSL scholarship.

The 2024 conference marks the 23rd conference organized by the Association. It welcomes submissions to discuss the latest practices and research on online, in-person, and blended instruction of the teaching and learning of the Chinese language, literature, and culture.

The abstract submissions can be in one of the two formats: presentations or teaching workshops. Please specify clearly in the email subject for which format your abstract is intended.

Presentation Abstracts: Each presentation is 20 minutes, followed by a 5-minute Q & A session. Submissions are encouraged, but not limited to the following areas:

1. Online and/or classroom teaching and learning.
2. Flipped and/or blended classes.
3. Student assessment.
4. Future teaching mode(s) and content.
5. AI applications in teaching.

Workshop Abstracts: The workshops are composed of several mini talks of 6-to-8 minutes each. During the workshop, each presenter will share one teaching activity or technique that they have found particularly effective in their classes. This is a teaching swap workshop. All information shared could be either original or something you have adapted to your teaching. Your sharing is practical, feasible, inspirational, and easy for participants to adapt to their own teaching.

Abstract Submission Guidelines:

Abstracts must be submitted to cantcsla@gmail.com as an attachment with the subject:
